

Career of the Month: Education Officer

Minimum qualifications

An undergraduate degree

Typical salary (with experience)

£20 – 40k

Competition for places

High

Demand for this role

Medium

Education officers prepare educational materials to raise awareness for/promote a certain issue, gallery, museum or organisation.

Useful skills and qualities:

Highly motivated

A good problem solver

Confident

A good communicator

A team player

Caring

Related interests:

Education & Teaching

Children

Things to consider

Varied work

This profession combines opportunities to teach outside the classroom with the ability to learn effective marketing skills and event organisation.

Rewarding

You will help make a visit to your workplace a more memorable experience for everyone and create a positive public profile

Work in all weathers

Depending on your organisation you might spend some of your time outdoors in all weathers, for example at a zoo or community farm.

Very competitive

Entry to this profession is very competitive and in the early stages of your career you are likely to discover that relevant voluntary or unpaid work experience will be very valuable to employers.

Learn about more careers at <https://indigo.careers/>