

Career of the Month: Sculptor

Minimum qualifications

an undergraduate degree

Typical salary (with experience)

£5 – 15k

Competition for places

High

Demand for this role

Medium

A sculptor is an artist who develops ideas for sculptures and statues, and brings them to life in three-dimensional form.

Useful skills and qualities:

Highly motivated

Creative

Full of initiative

Happy working alone

Practical

Related interests:

Arts & Crafts

History & Culture

Things to consider

Rewarding

Creating striking pieces of work out of materials such as clay should provide a sense of artistic achievement.

Creative freedom

You will be required to be original and will have the opportunity to try out new ideas and designs.

Isolating

This may not be the best job for an extrovert who can't bear to be alone. You'll be putting in some serious work hours with potentially only your sculptures to talk to. Depending on your personality, this may be very appealing or a little lonely.

Unpredictable/unstable profession

Many sculptors need to have another job to provide a more stable source of income.

Learn about more careers at <https://indigo.careers/>