Things to consider

Make a difference

You will be helping people to break down boundaries and overcome fear, which will increase their self-reliance and self-confidence.

Meet a range of people

You will be working with a wide range of people, from all backgrounds and ages, which will give great diversity to your working day.

Unsocial hours or on call

You will have to work unsociable hours.

Can specialise

Many instructors specialise in a particular discipline, such as canoeing or abseiling.

Very competitive

Although the outdoor leisure industry is growing, there is still a lot of competition for jobs.
